

IN RESPONSE TO PSALM 50

Posted on October 1, 2018 by Cosmin Dzsurdzsa

Psalm 50:3: "Our God shall come, and shall not keep silence: a fire shall devour before him, and it shall be very tempestuous round about him."

September

Seven embers of thought enflamed,
a mind on fire, in a wooden frame.
That single wick of a candle, broken into a shaft of smoke, crying
molten words unspoken.

The Ether

The ether,
suspended above the clouds
like a sunset whittled down
to its final shavings,
sucked up by the moon
into the vacuum of high noon,
where the echoes go on raving...
Raving...
Raving.

Airships

Blowing leaves,
motion without sound,
airships breaking heaven
where only silence is unbound.

Cosmin Dzurdza is the senior editor of The Post Millennial.

The photo shows, "King David Playing the Harp," by Gerard van Honthorst, painted in 1622.

